It was 9.00 before the deckhands on the steamer Sirius, of the Iron Steamboat Company, cast off her lines. As the bow of the big steamer swung out into the stream, five teachers, who were late, came running down the pler.

The stern of the boat swung in to the dock, and two big policemen boosted them over the rail.

A half-hour later the steamer stopped at the South Fifth street dock to take the Eastern District teachers on board. Health Commissioner Griffin, who was formerly a member of the Board of Education, and Henry Brown, Secretary of the Board, chaperoned the teachers.

"The one on the left is Joseph," said the veteran policeman, pointing to the smaller man of the two, "and this man here is Robert."

"Very well, then," said Judge Moore. "Robert, you may go, and Joseph will be remanded to jail."

The brothers glanced at each other and tear filled their eyes. Before they could utter a parting word a court officer tapped Edward on the shoulder and pointed towards the pen.

The elder man walked forth to freedom, while his younger brother went back to jail to await trial.

SAVED FROM THE WATER.

Sodenburg Was Just About to Jump Into the River. Adolph Sodenburg, of 144 East Fiftyeighth street, was held in the Lee Avenue Court, Williamsburg, to-day, until his sanity could be inquired into. Last Sunday Sodenburg went to Williamsburg, and on passing a Broadway iamsburg, and on passing a Broadway shoe store, broke open a case and took out two pairs of shoes. Then he walked to the corner, sat down, and leisurely attempted to put the shoes on over the ones he had on.

When arrested Sodenburg explained that he was well-to-do, and must have been crazy when he stole the shoes. Several hundred dollars was found in his pockets, and yesterday Justice Watson, in the Ewen Street Court, discharged him.

At an early hour this morning Sodenburg was seen by Policeman Ferguson going towards the docks at the foot of Division avenue. He acted so strangely that the policemen followed him, and was just in time to grab Sodenburg, who after taking off his coat and vest was preparing to jump into the water.

About a year ago the old man became demented, and concluded to go and live with a family named Whiting, who occupied one of his houses, at 41 Paterson street, Jersey City Heights.

Last evening Policeman Whalen was told by some neighbors that the Whiting family had vacated the premises yesterday, and they thought the old man Seger had been left there alone.

Whalen found the old man lying on the bare floor of an empty room, without a single garment on his person, ho furniture in the house, and no food or clothing.
